

DEATHS OF TWO SIDNEY FLIERS ARE MOURNED

A pall of sadness descended on the community of Sidney with the news that two local flying fire fighters -- Lt.-Cmdr. Alex M. Davidson, 43, and T.R. "Paddy" Moore, 45, were instantly killed on Sunday evening when their Canso water bomber crashed near Goldstream while battling a forest blaze.

Mr. Davidson learned to fly with the R.C.A.F. in World War 2. He was an instructor on Harvard aircraft at Ottawa before being posted overseas. He saw long action in Spitfires and Tempests and for a time was attached to a Czechoslovakian squadron, winning a flying cross from that nation for gallantry.

Subsequently he joined the Royal Canadian Navy and came to Patricia Bay Airport in 1952, commanding the reserve squadron. He retired from the navy in 1955 and was test pilot for Fairley Aviation for a number of years. During that time he assisted in the conversion of the giant Martin Mars flying boats to water bombers. In 1965 he founded the firm of Flying Firemen which operated here as well as in the interior of the province, using Canso aircraft. The firm to date has had a very busy season, battling fires on many fronts.

Commander Davidson is survived by his widow, Marjorie; a daughter, Bernice, 19, a student nurse; and a son, Craig, 16. "Paddy" Moore, who moved to All Bay Road in Sidney only recently, served with the Royal Navy Fleet Air Arm during World War 2, winning the Distinguished Service Cross for gallantry. For the past 11 years he has served as a test pilot in Dartmouth, near Halifax, N.S. He is survived by his widow, Kathy, and three sons: Robert, 19; Andrew, 16; and Donald, 10.

Remains have been taken to Sands' Funeral Chapel in Victoria where an inquest will be conducted on Wednesday evening.

A double funeral service will be conducted by Rev. Canon F.C. Vaughan-Birch at Sand's Sidney Funeral Chapel at 3 p.m. on Thursday and cremation will follow.

Last week's issue of The Review published a photograph of the ill-fated Canso dumping a load of water in almost the identical spot where it crashed on Sunday evening.

APPROVE IN PRINCIPLE

Approval in principle was given to the matter of provision of sewage disposal and trunk sewers within the Regional District of the Capital of B.C. Monday night at North Saanich council meeting.

Central Saanich council also approved the draft Letters Patent at Monday's meeting.

Councillor T. G. Mitchell noted that the Regional Board will be granted power to make surveys through private property and queried "what happens next?" Reeve R. G. Lee undertook to make enquiry in regard to powers of implementation that may be assumed by the Board.

From this point the matter goes for consideration to the regional board for final adoption if approved by all the members.

To Discuss New Plan

Hon. D. R. J. Campbell, provincial minister of municipal affairs, has suggested through the Regional Board to municipalities in this area that letters patent be drawn for the organization of a regional hospital district. The proposed district would include the Gulf Islands comprising School District No. 64. The matter will be discussed at the regional board meeting this week.

Commanding Officer Brings Golden Centennaires Home To Sidney

WING COMMANDER O. B. PHILP, D.F.C.

Wing Commander O. B. Philp, D.F.C., of Manor Farm, Sidney, on Friday proudly brought his Golden Centennaires "home". Commanding officer of the jet aerobatic squadron which officially opened Expo and has already appeared in numerous Canadian communities, Wing Commander Philp was on the tarmac at VU 33 section of Patricia Bay Airport when the flight arrived on Thursday afternoon. He was obviously thrilled at bringing his command to his own home area.

Golden Centennaires, consisting of 18 officers and 60 men together with modern jet aircraft and a giant Hercules freighter, have been commanded by the Sidney man since their inception. A veteran of 9,000 flying hours, he is senior officer in the flight by thousands of hours. He is 44 years of age and saw long service in the Second World War in both the European and Pacific theatres. Mrs. Philp and their three children reside in North Saanich. So does the Wing Commander's father, Squadron Leader Bartley Philp, himself a flying veteran of two wars.

"I am thrilled at bringing the Golden Centennaires to my own home area," said the commanding officer. "They are the finest aerobatic team which Canada has ever produced and their success is due to the wholehearted co-operation of every member of the group."

The command is a unique one because every man and the tons of equipment must be moved rapidly from one part of Canada to another. They are always on the move. In Sidney they are stationed at three motels and a hotel. They'll be here until Thursday of this week.

On Saturday last the Centennaires presented their show in Haney, flying directly there from Sidney and returning afterwards. On Wednesday evening the exhibition will be presented over Victoria. On Thursday the entire flight leaves here for Port-

NARROWER ACCESS ROAD

An application for an access road to a proposed subdivision in the Deep Cove area was referred to the North Saanich public works committee for study and report.

Municipal by-law says an access road into a subdivision is to be no less than 50 feet in width. The application was made to have the width of the proposed road cut down to 33 feet, since in this case it is to be a three-lot subdivision.

The application was made by Robert M. and Dorothy J. McLennan.

tage La Prairie, Man. During the year they will present exactly 100 shows -- one for every year of Canada's life.

But they will return. On August 17 the Centennaires will be back at Patricia Bay Airport. On the following day they will perform at Nanaimo from their Sidney base. The next day they'll be at Port Alberni and on August 20 they will depart for the last time.

On the morning of Friday, August 18, the Golden Centennaires will go through a practice -- which in effect will be the entire show. It will be around 11 a.m. and as close to Patricia Bay Airport as regulations will permit. It will be a special and gracious treat for residents of this area.

In addition to Wing Commander Philp, there are two British Columbian in the flight: Squadron Leader C. E. Lang of Creston, and Squadron Leader B. K. Doyle, C.D., of Richmond.

Music Exams

Angela Bridgen received first class honors with 86% in the grade 7 piano examination of the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto, held recently in Victoria. Ginny Horel and Marie Hughes both received honors in grade 7 with marks of 76%. All are pupils of Mrs. Doris L. Crofton, L.R.S.M.; R.M.T.

EMERGENCY BY-LAW ON SUBDIVISIONS

Promotion of sub-division development in Central Saanich has been halted for an unspecified period of time.

Council last Monday gave final reading to an emergency by-law restricting sub-division within the municipality to a minimum of five acres. The by-law was introduced and given first readings at a special meeting of council last Thursday.

TO STUDY MARINA

A committee composed of North Saanich Councillors G. R. Aylard, J. H. Wilson, and Reeve J. B. Cumming were appointed by the council Monday to meet and discuss with the proposers of a new Deep Cove marina their application for rezoning.

The proposers -- Esquimalt Squadron, Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association, 1001 Maplebank Road, Victoria -- had made application for the rezoning of land located at Tuam Road off Madrona Drive from residential to marina.

Since the group is not the owner of the property, and since council does not consider applications from non-owners, a committee was appointed to meet the group to establish their interest in the matter and prospects of ownership.

The committee has been instructed to report back to council with its findings.

In explanation of council's action Reeve R. Gordon Lee said: "In view of the sewer study now in progress, and the question of availability of a sufficient water supply, council has held it to be advisable to hold sub-division proposals in abeyance for the time being."

"There is also the additional factor of the preparation of an updated sub-division by-law according to the recommendations of the Capital Region Planning Board," he noted. The whole question will be studied by council when the draft of the new by-law is available, he indicated.

Monday's vote was not unanimous. Councillor Mrs. M. E. Salt dissented, saying that the decision is unfair to responsible sub-dividers of property not affected by the proposed trunk sewer line across the Peninsula.

"If a property satisfactorily passes the required percolation tests it is a curtailment of the inherent right of citizens to withhold assent to a sub-division," said Councillor Salt.

Commenting on sub-division applications now pending, Reeve Lee explained that it may well be beneficial to sub-dividers to wait until sewer trunks are scheduled. No doubt there will be instances where sewer installation will allow for smaller lots than had been planned and a more economical land use, he observed.

HOPES DASHED

Hopes of a triple Brentwood softball triumph were dashed last weekend when Brentwood girls were crushingly blanked 9 - 0 and 13 - 0 by Vancouver girls in the B. C. championship final at Vancouver.

CONVENTION HALL FOR SIDNEY LATER IN YEAR

Walter Bloxham, manager of the Travelodge Motel on Sidney's Beacon Avenue, announced this week that the motel will expand into the adjoining International Duty Free Store premises in the early fall. The store will be converted into a banquet room which will be able to cater for good sized conventions.

"We have long felt the need for more convention facilities in Sidney and aim to make the new banquet hall a most pleasing centre," said Mr. Bloxham. Already one small convention has been booked and a number of wedding receptions will be catered for.

Mr. Bloxham reports heavy tourist bookings at present with the facilities of the Travelodge filled to capacity practically daily.

Other motels in the Sidney area are also operating at capacity this month.

Hostility Over Proposed Posting Of Brooks Beach

Members of Central Saanich council last Monday were hostile to the request of the Metropolitan Board of Health for council's assent to the posting of pollution warning notices at Brooks Park Beach.

"This surprises me that all

POOR RESULT IN CLEAN-UP

First day of the free garbage and refuse clean-up of Sidney was not an outstanding success, Mayor A. W. Freeman reports. The municipality decided that this might be a logical year for a refuse clean-up of the community as this service had not been provided for several years. Results to date are disappointing.

"Our refuse collectors worked in the district south of Beacon Avenue last Friday. They had their task all complete within four hours and at the end of that time didn't even have a full load of material," said the mayor.

The same service will be provided on Friday of this week in the area between Beacon and Malvern. On the following Friday the district north of Malvern will be cleaned. The public is invited to make full use of this free service.

Hoppy Startled By Scenes In London

A. J. Hopkins, well known long time employee of Air Canada at Patricia Bay Airport, visited London, England, last week. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hopkins and their daughter. What impressed him most about the Hub of the Empire? Nothing but miniskirts.

Mr. Hopkins, who admitted to having made rather a detailed study of the miniskirts, demonstrated in The Review office the length of skirts now being worn by the ladies -- young and old -- in London. He indicated a skirt of extreme brevity.

"You get tired of seeing so of a sudden the bacterial count is so high that they want to post signs," said Councillor P.F. Benn. "We never seem to receive details of the actual counts."

"I don't know why they should come to council for authority to post notices. It looks as though they wish to throw the responsibility onto council. It brings to the surface the whole question of our relations with the Health Board," commented Councillor C.W. Mollard.

"I can't see why they are picking on Brooks Park Beach when we all know there are other places which are worse. I think this is one of the cleanest because it certainly hasn't a municipal ditch running into it," said Councillor T.G. Mitchell.

"Council will be vulnerable if the recommendations of the Board are not accepted," warned Reeve R.G. Lee. "When the sewer system is put in, I hope by next summer, the position will be relieved, except perhaps at the marinas," he added.

"If they feel the beach is polluted to that extent let them go ahead and post it. They should not seek to shift the responsibility to council," said Councillor Mollard.

"That's a personal opinion," commented the reeve.

In a further letter to council the Metropolitan Board of Health reportedly reported that it is hoped to complete a survey of malfunctioning septic tanks within two months.

The municipal clerk was authorized to reply that the municipal staff will co-operate with spot checks on properties adjacent to the Brentwood waterfront.

THE LATE A.M. DAVIDSON

PATIENCE REQUIRED BEFORE LOCAL WATER PROBLEM OVERCOME, CONTENDS STEPHEN

Domestic water services in the northern section of the Saanich Peninsula are creating a complex problem which becomes more frustrating as every year passes and population grows.

His Worship Mayor Hugh R. Stephen of Victoria, who serves as chairman of the administration board of the Greater Victoria Water District, has been good enough to set out his own personal views on the possibility of increasing the domestic water supply to Central Saanich and areas to the north. Mayor Stephen has a personal knowledge of the water supplied from Elk Lake northward because he enjoys summer living in his residence in Tower Park.

Mayor Stephen's statement will be widely read by residents of the Saanich Peninsula. His letter, in full, follows:

13th July, 1967
The Editor,
Saanich Peninsula and Gulf Islands Review,
9825 Third Street,
Sidney, B.C.

Dear Sir:
In view of the natural, great interest in the area served by your publication in the question of the eventual extension of the Greater Victoria Water District supply system to the northern half of the Peninsula, I thought it might be of interest to your readers to set down in writing both some factual data and also my own views as Chairman of the District's Administration Board.

I must make it plain that these views are personal and are stated as such, although I believe it safe to say they substantially represent the present thinking of both the Commission and the Administration.

First of all, may I point out that the Administration's present duties are to operate the Sooke Lake - Goldstream Water System on behalf of the four present owners, i.e., Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Saanich and the City. In addition, because the City had, at the time when the District was set up, already accepted the responsibility, the District continues the retailing of water in View Royal and areas west.

So far as I know, neither the Commission nor the Administration Board are legally bound nor required to commit the District to supplying Central and North Saanich with water. However, I am quite sure that the present Board, and probably future Boards, recognize that there is a moral obligation to make available to the rest of the "Greater Victoria Family" as soon as practicable a continuing supply of water from the present watershed area, but it must also be said that this will be conditioned by the understanding that the present owners will not suffer too much in the process. If it is accepted that the thinking of the Administration is that such a moral obligation does exist, then the eventual supply becomes a question primarily of timing.

In this connection I set out the following two most pertinent considerations: (A) From April through until November the water available from the present watershed area through the existing supply lines approximates 5 billion gallons. During these seven months there are no substantial natural additions to the supply system. Last year, during this same period, the usage was 4.3 billion gallons. It can thus be seen that until the new, eight-foot tunnel from Sooke Lake to the reservoirs is completed between 1970-71, the addition of any substantial, new, demand load would tax the present system beyond the danger point and might well result in some rationing to the present users.

Central Saanich and North Saanich areas use water from Elk Lake. Brentwood has its water supply from Durrance Lake and Sidney from wells with an occasional assist from Central Saanich. The combined usage is presently less than 200 million gallons per year or about 3% of all the water used in Greater Victoria. The population of these

STEAM HEATED TAXI

C.D.J. Anderson made an interesting discovery while renovating a room in his residence at 2445 Amelia Avenue. Under a floor board he found a business card of venerable age. It solicited patronage for the taxi of Bert Wouden, whose stand was Shedden's Store, Cow Bay, Prince Rupert. Patrons could summon Chauffeur Wouden by telephoning No. 34. He offered day and night service and also courteous treatment.

But one line of Mr. Wouden's business card deeply impressed Mr. Anderson. The taxis were not only radio equipped ---- but they were also steam heated.

If any reader can throw any light on how the ancient taxi card came here and how the cabs were steam heated, Mr. Anderson would be very grateful.

Council Approves Additional Area

Approval in principle was given Monday by North Saanich council to an additional area for marina purposes.

The application was made by Canoe Cove Marina Ltd. which asked council to approve the addition of four acres of water space to its property.

Councillor Mrs. Nell Horth said she approved the application as long as the approach to public mooring in the area would not be affected adversely.

"I don't think that'll be affected," opined Councillor J. H. Wilson.

"Why wasn't this four acres made a part and parcel of the owner's original application for a marina?" asked Councillor D. R. Cook.

"Canoe Cove Marina comprises several original properties and water leases," said Reeve James B. Cumming. "The intersection of these water leases create a hollow 'V' at the outer extremities. The owners of Canoe Cove Marina are asking for this area to be incorporated with their combined leases to make one large unit. The water rights branch are asking for our attitude to this application. Approval is in their hands."

Councillor T. C. M. Davis suggested that a reservation should be made on granting permission to have sheet metal boat sheds in the immediate area. This recommendation was heartily endorsed by the rest of the council.

STANDARDS ARE SET

A standard of roadbuilding in subdivisions was formally set by North Saanich Council Monday night.

The standard—set out in the newly adopted By-law No. 50—was given first, second and third readings in council. It provides for a standard amount of crushed gravel, paving asphalt, sewer sizes, and width of road. In By-law No. 9, which set out the provisions for road-building, such a standard was not set up.

Councillor F.C. Adams said he hoped it wouldn't be long before the municipality would be able, with the appointment of outside staff, to do such work itself rather than merely expect sub-dividers to do the work themselves.

He was given assurance that as the municipality develops, this would be done.

Witnesses Assemble In Nanaimo

For the second time in seven years, the Nanaimo Civic Arena has been the location of a most successful district convention for Jehovah's Witnesses. In many cases, the delegates have travelled great distances to be in attendance at this "Disciple Making" Assembly coming from all Island centres, British Columbia Mainland, Washington, California and Eastern Canada. Numbers were present from Sidney.

Another feature of the meet was the public baptism of 31 new members. A capacity crowd gathered at the Westward Ho indoor pool Friday morning to watch the complete water immersion of this group. Comments were made on the fact that the majority of this group of men and women were young people who have dedicated their lives to God's ministry.

To feed such a large crowd, a cafeteria was set up on the Arena premises, complete with food preparation departments, cooking ovens, dish-washing machines and food serving lines. Total number of meals served for the four day convention was in the area of 8,000 servings.

Accommodating the large number of delegates was a temporary problem. However, with the aid of 100 volunteer canvassers, accommodation for all delegates was located in local hotels and motels. Citizens in the Nanaimo area were very kind in opening their homes to the conventioners to meet the rooming requirements.

with them and resided with the family at Bennett Bay. Besides Clara he is survived by three other daughters and two sons, 21 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services and interment were held at Wilkie, Saskatchewan.

WILL ATTEND JAMBOREE

Two area scouts will be attending the gigantic World Scouting Jamboree to be held in early August. The jamboree, 12th of its kind to be held, will take place at Lake Pend Oreille in Idaho, USA. The two boys will be part of the 1200-member Canadian contingent going to the event, which is expected to attract some 15,000 boys from around the world. Rick, 14, lives at 118 Burnett in View Royal, and Frank, 15, a Queen's Scout, lives at 10859 Madrona Drive in Deep Cove.

His Works Are Recalled

ADMIRAL SIR GEORGE HENRY RICHARDS

Admiral Sir George Henry Richards spent barely more than six years in British Columbia and Vancouver Island waters - but his works here are recalled in a host of islands, harbors, bays and channels which he named while engaged in coastal surveys. Ganges, Fulford, Brockton, Pender, Vesuvius, Mayne, Trincomali, Active, Moresby, Knapp, Piers, Thetis, Kuper - the list goes on and on.

The son of a navy captain he was born and raised in England and given to the navy in 1832 when he was only 12 years of age. He served first in the West Indies then in survey ships, and later warships in Chinese waters. By 1842 he was a Lieutenant. He did surveys in the Falklands and saw war service again in South America.

In 1846 he became a Commander and joined a survey of New Zealand waters, led by Admiral Stokes. In 1852 he served in the Belcher expedition to the Arctic searching for months by sled over Arctic ice for the missing explorer Sir John Franklin, to no avail. In 1854 he was promoted to Captain and in 1856 given command of HMS Plumper for surveys of Vancouver Island.

He served six years in Plumper and Hecate in B.C. waters and acted also as a Queen's Commissioner in determining the location of the 49th parallel as the boundary. When he returned to England in 1863 he went by way of Asia, circumnavigating the globe for the third time.

Richards was made Rear Admiral in 1870, four years later he was placed on the retired list. In 1877 he became a Vice Admiral, retired and was knighted; in 1884, full Admiral, though retired. While in retirement he was associated with Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company laying submarine cables. He died at age 76 in November, 1896.

DAUGHTER HERE

Death occurred in Veterans' Hospital, Victoria, on July 13 of David Ross Fraser, aged 94 years, a native of Montreal and a resident of Victoria for the past three years. A daughter, Mrs.

Frederick A. (Edith) Polden, resides at 2184 Henry Avenue in Sidney. Funeral services were conducted in Sands' Sidney Funeral Chapel on Wednesday by Major Robert McKerracher and cremation followed.

Stock Car Thrills Spark Racy Movie

Thrills, spills and excitement, and a continuous thread of romance, characterises the feature "Fireball 500," opening at the Gem Theatre, Sidney, on Thursday, July 20, for three evenings showing. Youth movie favorites Frankie Avalon and Annette Funicello are teamed in starring roles, supported by Fabian, Chilli Wills, Harvey Lembeck and Julie Parrish.

Avalon and Fabian portray daredevil auto drivers who compete on the racetrack and also for each other's women. The story is set in a southern town which is the site of championship stock-car races.

Lighter moments feature singing and country dancing, and there is no lack of desperate thrills as the racing stars burn up the tracks.

"Return from the Ashes," screened at the Gem Theatre on July 24, 25 and 26, is described as "a journey into the diabolical," and is reserved for adult entertainment.

It has been held that the bathtub, more than any other location, is most often chosen by murderers for commitment of the "perfect crime." This suspense-packed drama in which an international chess expert involves a daughter in the murder of her mother includes a climatic bathtub sequence calculated to amaze the average moviegoer.

Maximilian Schell, Samantha Eggar, Indrid Thulin and Herbert Lom are the featured stars.

Bonds Prove Bad Business

Government bonds have proven to be bad business, according to a statement made by D.S. MacNeil, of 3221 West 41st Ave., Vancouver, head of the Perpetual Bond Holders' Association.

"Fifty-five million dollars in Perpetual Bonds were sold to Canadians in 1936," says Mr. MacNeil in a letter to The Review. "Over the past 30 years, these bonds have depreciated over $20,000,000 in actual cash value and much more in purchasing power."

The Perpetual Bond Holders' Association, he adds, has been formed for the sole purpose of drawing government and public attention to the plight of Canadians who entrusted their savings to the Federal Government through purchase of the bonds during the depression years.

The association now has members all across Canada, points out the letter.

"We have found that Perpetual Bond holders have not been able to accomplish anything through their individual appeals," said Mr. MacNeil. "Therefore, our aim is to act collectively in an attempt to gain some measure of justice for many elderly Canadians victimized by this unfortunate situation."

The distance between the pitcher's mound and home plate before 1884, when hurling was underhand, was only 45 feet. It is now 60 1/2 feet.

New Flagship Delivered

Pictured above is the 382-foot M.V. Hyak, newest vessel in the fleet of State of Washington Ferries. Just when the new ship will first appear in Sidney is not known at present. State of Washington Ferries operates a year-round service linking Sidney with Anacortes. Hyak is much larger and faster than any other ferries operated on Puget Sound. She accommodates 160 cars and 2,600 passengers. Her power plant will deliver 8,000 horse power, providing a cruising speed of 20 knots.

Flashcoating Bids Drop By $5,000

A cost estimate of doing flashcoating road work in North Saanich has dropped from $12,000 to "a more realistic figure of under $7,000," according to a Public Works Committee report. Committee chairman F. C. Adams presented the revised figures to North Saanich Council Monday night.

He added that extensive repairs were being implemented to Downey, Birch, Bazan Bay, Amity Drive and other roads, and that some additional dust-coating of gravel roads had recently been completed. Almost all the gravel roads in the municipality had now been so treated, he said.

The committee had recently received, said Mr. Adams, a loose-leaf book on uniform traffic control devices for Canada. The book, distributed by the Canadian Good Roads Association, based in Ottawa, specifies the signs which are to become uniform throughout the nation within a short time.

"The book states we'll have about two years in which to conform," said Mr. Adams, "which will make it possible for all drivers to know what to do no matter what part of Canada they're in."

WIT'S END

By WINDSOR

I remember reading once about a depression that occurred in France during the latter part of the last century. Paris was particularly hardhit and the streets were full of homeless, penniless unemployed who at night slept on park benches. This untidiness annoyed the nice respectable citizens, and finally the municipal government of the city was prevailed upon to pass a by-law forbidding anyone to sleep on park benches.

When there were protests from various quarters that this was legislation aimed against the destitute, who had nowhere else to go, the worthy legislators were indignant.

"True," they agreed, "the police are now empowered to arrest any of these shiftless, no good vagrants that they find sleeping on our park benches, but the law is absolutely just, because if they find any millionaires also sleeping there, they too will be arrested. What could be fairer than that?"

About the only difference in attitude between ourselves and those nineteenth century Frenchmen in the handling of vagrants, was that they sought to cover their actions with a veneer, a very thin veneer, of justice, while we make no such pretence. In our society it is apparently a crime to be shabbily dressed, without money, home, or employment, and of course the best thing to do with

POTTER TO CONTINUE

By unanimous decision of Central Saanich council last Monday Russell E. Potter was re-appointed consultant engineer in the matter of sewer installations within the municipality.

Reeve R.G. Lee, chairman of the sewer committee, spoke of a "very comprehensive, but preliminary study of two alternate trunk sewer routes now in progress". There is also an endeavor to co-relate the findings of the engineer with the economics of the situation, he advised council.

such criminals is to send them to jail. Therefore we have vagrancy laws which are primarily designed to drive out these social misfits from our well ordered cities. We don't want lazy dirty people cluttering up our streets, unless of course they have money to spend, when they are very welcome. If they haven't though, the best way to handle them is a few days behind bars and a warning to get out of town. Unfortunately, as almost every municipality takes the same line, this doesn't do much more than ensure that these outcasts spend a considerable number of short periods in a considerable variety of jails between being chased from one city to another. At least though, it keeps the floating population floating.

At the moment the righteous anger of all us good respectable citizens is directed against this new group, the Hippies. They seem determined to flout every value that we North Americans hold sacred. Don't they realize that B.O. is a grave social crime and that if they want to live happily ever after, they're supposed to use nationally advertised soaps and deodorants. Then again, how irritating it is for the rest of us when they show such contempt for honest toil and the privilege of punching a time clock for the next 44 years. How dare they enjoy being grasshoppers while all we busy ants have to keep running in the rat race. This contempt leads to another, even greater sin, lack of due and proper reverence for money. Can you imagine, they don't seem to want to make a million before they are 30, or even a fast buck at someone's expense. Instead of being sensible like the rest of us and grabbing all they can get, they are so darn lazy they just want to sit in the sun and live from day to day and from hand to mouth. Positively Un-Canadian.

As if all this isn't bad enough, these misguided young people compound their errors with a lot of silly talk about peace and universal love. What they don't realize, as we more responsible people do, is that if this ever came to pass it would simply ruin our economy. Fortunately their words don't carry much weight and we can still look forward to a bright future of affluence and war production.

It's no wonder though, that society is more than a little annoyed with them and are sending them to jail for the heinous crime of having no visible means of support. Serves them right for thinking differently from the rest of us, although I am not really sure that it does much good.

In fact, I have heard suggestions that we should add a new freedom to our glorious Bill of Rights. This would be, that as long as a man did not break any laws, and where he had no family dependent upon him, he should have the right to be dirty, long haired, lazy, poor, ill-clothed, ill housed, and ill fed if he wishes, without being sent to prison as a criminal. I don't know. It sounds pretty far out to me, and how would it help give these no gooders an appreciation of the finer, higher things in life, such as shiny red convertibles, color television, and Ranch styles on 25 year mortgages. No, it's probably better to lock them up for a few days and then chase them over to Vancouver.

WILL TEST SWIMMERS

Swimming lessons sponsored by the Sidney Recreation Commission and held at Craigmye Motel for the past few weeks terminate on July 21, when a representative from the Red Cross in Victoria will be present to examine and put through the swimming tests of the beginners, juniors and intermediate classes of children. This examination will take place at the pool Friday, July 21, commencing at 9:30 a.m.

NOT GINLESS

From February 16, 1922 issue of The Review:

South Vancouver's municipal records show no arrests and an empty jail. But churches claim increase of bootlegging. Meaning, perhaps, that the place is sinless, but not ginless.

Victoria Not Entirely Little Bit Of England

(BY BERT GREEN)

Victoria needs London Bridge not so much as one of London's numerous public conveniences in the opinion of two visiting ladies.

In the heart of Victoria's shopping district one afternoon last week their enquiries for a facility to freshen up met with a threefold negative response.

One of the visitors then distinctly remembered that there once was a convenience behind the City Hall, but a hasty search in that direction revealed the distressing fact that no such mundane provision had been made in the grand reconstruction of the city centre.

They had been told succinctly in a store and in a cafe that washroom facilities were for the benefit of staff only, and by this time the departmental stores were at the point of closing. However, there seemed to be no alternative but to pursue the advantage of private enterprise, and as quickly as possible.

Having no automobile they approached a service station with some trepidation and asked for the key.

SAD STORY

"I'm sorry, the key was left inside by the last user," said a regretful attendant. "She came out and slammed the door so we can't get in," he explained.

Fortunately they reached a service station which had no problem of communication. The key was immediately available, and once again they were able to face life with some assurance by courtesy of the management of one of Canada's greatest commercial corporations. The only flaw in the arrangements had been the position of the mirror.

Enjoy Trip

To Harrison

Eighty-six members of the Sidney branch of the Old Age Pensioners' Organization recently enjoyed a trip to Harrison Hot Springs.

On arrival at the resort, they shared a smorgasbord lunch, and afterwards enjoyed the swimming available at the hot pool, and some visited friends.

The group left Harrison at 6 p.m. and arrived in Sidney at 11 p.m.

Council Sympathetic To New Trailer Park

Proposal of John Chew, 4839 West Saanich Road, to establish a trailer park on 10 acres of waterfront property immediately south of Cowichan Head was sympathetically received by Central Saanich council last Monday evening. The submission was supported by consultant engineer John Graeme, and a comprehensive study of the proposals was made available to each councillor in brochure form.

"This is a very fine submission; all the problems one might expect to anticipate are fully dealt with," remarked Reeve Gordon Lee.

He said that in the past such proposals had been frowned upon, and remarked that the fact that the project was designed for overnight trailer accommodation only made it more attractive. The submission was accompanied by a colored representation of the proposed development.

According to the feasibility report alternate plans would lay out the Campion Road property as it now exists with a 16 per cent road from the high area to the water level, or allow for a radical rearrangement of contours by a considerable movement of land.

The position of the site was stated by the applicant to be ideal for the purpose, being remote and not visible from established dwellings.

Reflections From the Past (TAKEN FROM THE EARLY FILES OF THE REVIEW)

5 YEARS AGO

As an indirect result of the federal government's austerity program, Central Saanich will have to bear the full costs of a $14,000 fire truck which was recently ordered for delivery early in 1963.

Controversial question of park or municipal hall for the playground in Sidney will be settled by the ratepayers in a referendum to be presented on Tuesday, July 31.

10 YEARS AGO

Pioneer Salt Spring Island businessman and associated with the firm for many years, Gavin C. Mout has announced his plans to dispose of his interests in Salt Spring Lands Ltd.

Teenage boys and girls of Sidney and North Saanich have formed a club for sports, dances, and summer beach parties. July 20, they have set as the date of their first beach party.

25 YEARS AGO

A fire which broke out on Thursday, July 2, at Montague Harbor, in the slaying of the Galliano Logging Co., was soon brought under control by the co-operation of residents and visitors on the island.

No. 3 Company, Pacific Coast Rangers, will parade at 2000 hours at the Farmers' Pavilion, Experimental Station, on Saturday, July 18.

45 YEARS AGO

An agitation was started here some weeks ago to have a government liquor store stationed in Sidney, with the result that Commissioners Falkner and Winsby visited town about a week ago, and advised those in favor of the project to call a meeting of the citizens and have the matter discussed from all viewpoints.

ever, these cannot be finalized until the three organized areas submit to the District their opinion on the line the supply main should take once it proceeds north of Beaver Lake. It is my understanding that this necessary prerequisite to right-of-way purchase is under consideration now, and we are hoping for a unanimous recommendation by the three Councils in the Fall of this year.

In 1970-71 the District should be financially able to proceed with a pipeline as far as Beaver Lake, whether or not other financial assistance is forthcoming. By that time Central and North Saanich areas should have designed their distribution systems, agreed to the location of the District's pipeline, made or agreed to a financing proposal and all parties should be ready to proceed.

And until these things are done, routes are available (and these depend on distribution surveys and designs), until the areas concerned unite in common agreement with the District on financing, until money is cheaper, and all the foregoing will probably take two to three years anyway, nothing much in the way of construction can be done. By 1970, these arrangements could be made and work could proceed and be completed within a year.

It is also pertinent to note that today and probably for as long as inflation continues interest rates and costs may get high enough to preclude much development by the District or house builders, and there can be nothing certain in the District's plans to proceed as scheduled.

There is one further point upon which I would like to state a personal opinion, and in this I am certainly making no commitments on behalf of other members of the Administration Board. It has been stated by several people lately that the wholesale supply of water throughout the Greater Victoria Region should become a function of the Regional District Board. With this suggestion I find myself at present in direct conflict. My understanding of the function of the Regional Board is that it has been made available to us for the purpose of solving those problems upon which we seem unable to get together on a Regional basis. The Greater Victoria Water District is at present, in my opinion, operating as efficiently as any public body in this Region and I see no purpose whatsoever in disturbing its present status until it can be clearly shown to be inadequate to its responsibilities. Certainly until that contingency arises, I believe that I and the other Victoria Members of the Regional Board would be distinctly opposed to removal of the District's functions to another authority.

As a matter of courtesy I am sending copies of this letter to

Two of the Sidney area's Centennial projects are these steam engines, constructed during the past winter by Ben Andrews, 9679 Seventh Avenue and Gil Montgomery, 1860 Swartz Bay Road, with assistance from Mr. Montgomery's 15-year-old son. The engine on the left was built by Mr. Andrews, and is a working model of an engine used to propel a paddle steamer, such as was used on the interior lakes of B.C. in the last century. The engine on the right, built by the Montgomerys, is a model of the original James Watt parallel motion steam engine, patented in 1784.

Young Cats And Sea Lion But No Elephants Proposed

The g-carts have gone, but the young cats have arrived to present Island View residents with new problems of co-existence. A sea lion also is in residence.

Central Saanich council dwell long last Monday evening in consideration of a conflict of interests involving naturalist and conservationist David Hancock and his pets on the one hand, and local residents fearful of a new source of affliction on the other.

Delegation of residents was present in support of a petition protesting a zoo, or the keeping of wild animals on the Island View Beach property. It was submitted that such an operation would degrade the area and interfere with the quiet enjoyment of residents.

Mr. Hancock had earlier informed council that he was installing his pets at Island View on July 1, and he had been requested to attend the meeting to disclose his intentions for the future. Some months ago council had granted him permission to provide accommodation for his captive birds and waterfowl, including the species of peregrine falcon and bald eagle, said to be in danger of extinction.

R. J. Spooner, 3094 Island View Road, for the petitioners, said that they had no objection to the wildfowl, but protested the keeping of predatory animals in proximity to a public beach. He spoke of the problems of parasites and the disposal of waste in an area where there would likely be a lack of water for proper maintenance.

"This is the thin end of the wedge. How far is it going to expand?" he asked.

Ronald Worley, 2840 Lamont Road, spoke with appreciation of Mr. Hancock's work as a conservationist, but objected to the "foot in the door" principle. He suggested that if the permission sought is granted it would be a precedent, and a future owner of the property might well react to the requests of the public for a "bigger show."

Mr. Hancock reiterated that he had no intention of operating a zoo as such. He would be content to receive permission to keep his two young cougars, one of which unfortunately is losing its sight, the sea lion and his dog.

Total of five mammals would meet the situation and enable him to take in one other creature temporarily if the occasion should arise, he suggested.

"There is a rumor that he is going to bring in bears. We don't want that," said Councillor Mrs. M. E. Salt.

"I don't know where you heard it," retorted Mr. Hancock, "and elephants perhaps," he added facetiously.

"Don't be ridiculous," retorted Mrs. Salt, "this is tantamount to a zoo."

"In fairness to Mr. Hancock," said Reeve R. Gordon Lee, "he did advise us of his intention to bring in the animals. If council should decide to grant the permission, and I don't say that this will be so, it would I am sure be conditional, and any expansion would be impossible."

In The Bittersweet Of Evening

(BY "MATTHEW CASTLE")

In the bittersweet of evening
a pale spray of rain slanting finely, dims the hills behind and fades the furious water to soft grey.
The air is bitter cold, wind gusting chill against my skin through heavy wool.
The soft brown deer, abundant in the sunfilled day, are gone: gone too the raucous crows and soaring gulls.
Here on the windswept beach
the surging, swirling sea crashes
hurls and crashes,
boiling angrily over broken rocks:
then draws away
from this solitary man.

It was disclosed that Mr. Hancock has a six-months permit to keep his pets, and that a provincial zoo licence will be necessary if he is to continue. Such licence would not be obtainable without council concurrence, he said.

Council finally resolved to request Mr. Harding to file a written statement giving a clear definition of his purpose.

A Significant Step

The step taken by Central Saanich council on Monday evening which put a temporary stop to all subdivision developments in the municipality, was a most significant one. Problems of domestic water and sewage disposal prompted the quick decision. It will be most interesting to observe how long the subdivision hiatus will continue and what the other ramifications of the new ruling will be.

Central Saanich councillors were not unanimous in their decision. One member -- the only lady -- look issue with her teammates on the matter. She pleaded, and very convincingly too, that the terms of the motion were too sweeping. Her expressed views on the subject should not be overlooked.

Meanwhile the eyes of the Peninsula will continue on Central Saanich as the future progress of its subdivisions unfolds.

Local Culture

This district is becoming known as a mecca for artists. For a number of years Saanich Peninsula Art Centre has flourished and has contributed to the development of artistry in many homes.

The names of two outstanding local artists have been in the news recently. They have brought first class publicity to their home area. We refer initially to Mrs. Evelyn Burt-Smith of Deep Cove who has had five prints accepted for display at the Canadian pavilion at Expo. She has previously had her works exhibited at numerous cities in eastern Canada, the United States and Great Britain.

This week announcement is made that Michael Morris, unquestionably the town of Sidney's outstanding artist, has won a $2,000 award for his recent works. A member of the teaching staff of Simon Fraser University in Burnaby, Mr. Morris is a product of Sidney schools. His mother and grandmother live here and have long been a part of the Sidney community.

This kind of publicity is good for any district.

A Provincial Matter

Anyone who has recently slewed along Beacon Avenue with its multiple levels and types of paving must, at some point, have asked when the town is going to do something about it.

The town can't.

Sidney's main street from the highway to Fifth Street is provincial government jurisdiction. Presumably, the patchwork of paving, which would undoubtedly prove fascinating to anyone designing an assault course for tanks, is their's also.

The Review also learned that overtures have been made by the town about this to the provincial government. The only -- and typical -- answer received was: "When we do further work on the highway, Beacon Avenue will be considered." It was impossible to find out when further work on the highway is to be done.

Stephen On Water

quested to install a pipeline, and the areas concerned have not joined together nor individually suggested any financing arrangements, and certainly a pipeline cannot be installed prior to a formal request to do so. The Councils of Central, North Saanich and Sidney or their electorates should authorize or otherwise define in a by-law the explicit means of meeting all or a portion of the mortgage on the supply main. (Water sales for many years would carry only a small part of this mortgage.)

On completion of the Sooke Tunnel it is the intention of the Commission to recommend to the Board that the District absorb the cost of the first section as far as Beaver Lake, and all the remainder to be at the cost of the northern areas; the first section in time will be necessary for the Municipality of Saanich.

(B) A further factor that perhaps should be taken into consideration, (although it is certainly not a direct concern of the Water District) is the degree to which the premature construction of supply lines up the Peninsula might be inhospitable to the orderly growth and development of the area, which I am sure it is the desire of the present administrations to encourage.

I think perhaps the above considerations might well be summarized by asking the following three questions:-

1. While it may be true that some development is presently restrained in both Central and North Saanich by lack of water, how urgent is it for the District to ameliorate this condition at a risk to its own system; and if it did so, would a supply main automatically bring relief? Is it indeed a question of supply shortage at this time or merely a lack of distribution pipelines?

2. How is the water supply pipeline, when constructed, to be financed? By the District and its present customers, by the people in Northern Saanich along, or by a combination of the two?

3. How does the problem of bringing the water supply to this area affect planning and the desirability of controlling urban sprawl? The District has, I think, accepted the moral obligation to service Central and North Saanich and is now proceeding on the assumption that in 1967, 68 and 69 it will acquire all the necessary rights-of-way. Lady Magician Visits Mayne

BY ELSIE BROWN

A magician who performs without benefit of sleeves, pockets, backdrops or other similar gimmicks was a visitor to Mayne Island during the recent holiday weekend.

That's Celeste Evans, internationally-known lady magician, who happens to be a sister of Jack Evans. He and his wife Grace and their two children, Heather and Bill, live at Cherry Tree Place.

Celeste herself, who was born and raised in White Rock, now lives in Evanston, Illinois. Her husband, Harry Breyn, who is also her manager, is one of the foremost booking agents in Chicago, and handles some of the topmost acts in the United States today.

After she had graduated from Semiahmoo High School, White Rock, opportunities to appear at night clubs in Vancouver resulted in her first break into the theatrical world. The Canadian Legion in Burnaby sponsored a Canadian show to entertain the armed forces serving in Korea in 1953, and Celeste was one of those chosen to become a member of this troupe.

The television series "Pick

The Stars", popular at that time, was her next vehicle, and she lived in various parts of eastern Canada at this period.

After a performance before United Nations representatives in New York, she was asked to entertain different armed forces all over the world.

It was during this time that the United Nations called on Celeste and her troupe to go into the Congo to entertain the UN forces stationed there. They arrived six days after the Lumumba slaying—not a very good time for a civilian to be in the area!

Afterwards, Celeste toured Europe until the President Kennedy Exchange Program in 1961 sent her with a troupe of American entertainers to represent the United States as goodwill ambassadors throughout Southeast Asia, India, and Iran.

Recent engagements have included a banquet for U.S. credit consumers at the Vancouver Hotel, an event which booked Celeste to appear for this one performance, and which was arranged from St. Louis, Missouri.

Miss Lobat Vala, Tehran, Iran, feature writer: "The people are so wonderful, your Victoria Island is a dream!"

Miss Josephine Sapper, Accra, Ghana, Ghana News Agency: "Canada is a land of plenty and happiness, blest with all nature gives you. People are generous and warm-hearted, color is no barrier, here, every man is the same."

Miss Kate Reinert, U.S.A., with Schenectady News, T.V., New York State: "My impressions of Canada are varied and affectionate, I am amazed at the perfect English of these journalists, it is astonishing."

Miss Audrey Chong, Kingston, Jamaica, Jamaica Information Service: "You have a very smart set of women in your CWPC, I am glad you saved the best for the last part of our trip."

Mrs. Irene Dijkers-Brugmans, Netherlands, freelance writer: "I have only three words for you—I love Canada! It is a lovely place to end our tour in Victoria."

Miss Elaine Gebara, Beirut, Lebanon, L'Orient Daily News, and Mrs. Edith Mandrup-Christensen, Editor, womens page, Berlingske Tidende, did not attend the dinner, but were equally impressed with the vastness of Canada.

Former Island Girl Returns For Visit

After 28 years in Somerset, England, Rosemary, (Mrs. Ron Reeves), a former Salt Spring Island girl, returned to the scene of her childhood in Burgoyne Valley to visit her father, John French Sr.

Mrs. Reeves lost her mother when she was quite young, and her father married again and came back to the old farm with his wife Ethel, over 20 years ago.

Mrs. Reeves met her new family - Christopher, Jayney and Gillian French, children of her father and step-mother. She also met other members of the French clan, and her brother John French, Jr. and his wife and family from Victoria. In fact, by the time Rosemary had met everyone gathered at the old home over the weekend, there were 19 members of the family around the dining room table, plus a few extra friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Twiss have returned from a bus tour to Radium Hot Springs, Columbia River Dam, and Lake Louise. Lyndon Twiss and his wife and daughter Deborah are spending the weekend here. Lyndon's son Paul will spend the rest of the summer working at the Golf Course.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Pellant of Burnaby are spending a few days visiting friends on the island. They are staying in Mr. Ausman's cottage. Canon Hunt of St. Peter's Anglican Church, Williams Lake, will conduct services in St. Margaret of Scotland Church on Galiano, during Rev. Doody's absence for the next two weeks.

Mrs. Mary Backlund, who has recently been elected to the post of historian of the Vancouver Island Branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club, went to Victoria for two days in order to attend functions for visiting journalists from other lands.

Swimming classes for children are being held every Monday night at Galiano Lodge, instructor is Rod Filtess, of Mayne Island. The classes are sponsored by the Galiano Recreation Commission, subsidized by the Galiano Club. The Club is grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Clarke for making these lessons possible for the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Willock of Langley are spending the weekend visiting their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Willock.

Popular captain of the Mayne Queen, Dennis Carter, with his wife and two children, spent the day on Saturday visiting Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Kennedy.

Rosemary and her brother John attended the Valley school, then went to England with their father. Eventually Rosemary married, and she and her husband Ron Reeves, have finally emigrated to Canada and intend to make their home here. They have seven children in ages from six to 19 years.

So with brother John and his family, and Rosemary and her youngsters, the old farm house in the Valley was overflowing for a few days -- and still is.

The old home was built about 1863, the year the former late owner, Joseph Akerman, came to the island, so the house holds many secrets. Joseph was the chap who had a market garden where the Parliament Buildings now stand - he also met the Bride Ship in the early days and picked a wife off the old Robert Lowe. He owned the first Tavern on the island. And the home was called "The Traveller's Rest", (a name which could have been appropriate this last few days).

So besides people, the old home is bursting with history. A part of the old ladder which was fastened across the steep roof, is still in evidence, though the house had been renovated over the years to allow for "family reunions."

John French Sr. came to take over in 1929 so feels he is an old timer by now.

For months he has been anticipating the arrival of his daughter Rosemary and family and this week has been a happy one for him and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeves and family came all the way by air and are now planning their next move, as they want to settle down where Mr. Reeves can find a job and start his home all over again.

FULFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wakelin and son Roy of Penticton, arrived on Monday to stay with Mr. and Mrs. Ron Lee and family for a visit.

Miss Donna Hollings, now of San Francisco, has been home to visit her family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hollings, for a few days. Also home was Mrs. Noel Valcourt, (nee Hollings) with her daughter Christine, from Victoria. Both daughters returned home after the week end.

Mrs. Muriel Archer and her son Frank, were over to stay with Mrs. Archer's father, E.H. Smith for a few days. They returned to Vancouver on Monday.

Summer Wedding In Island Catholic Church

A lovely summer wedding took place in Our Lady of Grace Roman Catholic Church, Ganges at high noon, July 3, when Rev. William Mudge united Mary Karel Ratzlaff and Barry Auguste Marcette in matrimony. The marriage ceremony, conducted in English, followed the new order of service recently introduced for use in the Catholic Church.

The bride-to-be entered the church on the arm of the groom-to-be. They were preceded down the aisle by their attendants and followed by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oriek Ratzlaff, La Crescentia, California, formerly of Salt Spring Island and Mr. and Mrs. Auguste E. Marcette, Walker Hook Road. Following the marriage service and exhortation Father Mudge celebrated nuptial mass.

The bride was radiant in her floor length white lace wedding gown styled in cage design over close fitting white taffeta. A narrow satin belt and bow trimmed the Empire waist at the front. The free flowing back of the gown fell gracefully from the shoulders.

Sequins dotted the wide neckline, and full length fitted sleeves ended in lily points. The shoulder length multi-tiered nylon veil misted from a cluster of silk flowers. Joanna Hill apricot-toned roses and white carnations formed her bouquet tied with satin streamers.

Pridesmaids Miss Janice Girard, Ganges and Miss Suzanne Todd from Richmond, B.C., wore identical gowns of apple green silk crepe, designed with high lace bodice. Elbow length sleeves featured deep gathered cuffs. Matching bouffant net veils were held in place by floral ornaments.

Their bouquets were apricot carnations and white gladiolus. Attending the groom were John Ratzlaff, brother of the bride and Gilbert Marcette, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Rex Ratzlaff and Grant Marcette.

Miss Carmen Ratzlaff was organist and Mrs. Margaret Davis played the wedding march. The Parish Hall was gaily decorated in pink and white streamers for the reception and luncheon of 90 guests.

The three-tiered wedding cake flanked by silver candles centred the head table. Maple leaves, white wedding bells and pink and white streamers mounted on a screen formed an attractive background for the bridal party. Grace was said by Father Mudge. Flowers in the church and for the luncheon were arranged by Mrs. C. W. Archer.

Frank Schwagly proposed the toast to the bride. Parents of the bride couple were honored in toasts given to Mr. and Mrs. Ratzlaff by Howard Carlin and to Mr. and Mrs. Marcette by H. A. Emerson. Master of ceremonies was the groom's uncle Donald Fraser, Louis Creek, P.C.

For their honeymoon to be spent in the Gulf Islands the new Mrs. Marcette wore a suit of blue and silver silk with accessories in tone. Mr. and Mrs. Marcette will make their home in Burnaby.

Off-island guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fraser and Mr. and Mrs. Alan MacDougall with Charles and Ed all from Chase, B.C. Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Fraser with Hugh, Danny, Shane and Sandra, Louis Creek, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil David, California; Mr. and Mrs. Oriek Ratzlaff and John, Rex, Danny, David and Miss Carmen Ratzlaff, California; Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill Marcette with Donna, Debbie and Doug, Burnaby; Mr. and Mrs. John Marcette and Mary, London, Ontario; Sam Marcette and son Larry, Langford, B.C.

Will Auction Famous Ship

M.V. KALAKALA

One of the most famous ferry boats in the world will soon come to the end of the line as a regularly scheduled commercial ferry operated by State of Washington Ferries. The American ferry line, which connects Sidney with Anacortes in a year-round service, has announced that M.V. Kalakala will be sold by auction in August.

Known as the "Flying Bird," the "World's First Streamlined Ferry" and some other descriptions not quite so complimentary, the KALAKALA has had one of the most colorful if checkered careers of any ferry boat afloat.

The KALAKALA started its existence in 1933 by being rebuilt on the old S.S. PERALTA, a vessel which had burned to the waterline. The burned hull, without the engines, was towed to Seattle when it was purchased by the Puget Sound Navigation Company, known as the Black Ball Line and rebuilt into its present streamlined form in Houghton, Wash., on the east shore of Lake Washington. Captain Alexander M. Peabody, President of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, was the man who designed the streamlined hull.

On July 2, 1935, the KALAKALA started its new life on the Seattle-Bremerton route. The KALAKALA also ran "moonlight" excursion cruises during the summer months that were very popular and was sometimes utilized for special excursions to Victoria or the San Juan Islands when she could be spared from her regular duties. On two different occasions, the KALAKALA was pulled off her regular run to make the one-a-day round-trip between Seattle and Victoria during the summers of 1945 and 1946.

The Black Ball Line continued to operate the KALAKALA until June, 1951, when the intra-state holdings of that company were purchased by the Washington Toll Bridge Authority of which the Washington State Ferries is a division.

How many millions of miles the KALAKALA has shaken, shuddered, and rattled through are not available, but this much is known. From July 2, 1935 to August 8, 1952, she made 35,601 Seattle-Bremerton round trips and ran a total of 1,007-

Keen Interest In Island Fish Derby

A large crowd gathered outside Mout's Store for the weigh-in and the presentation of prizes for the Salt Spring Island Rod and Gun Club annual fishing derby held Sunday, July 16.

Although the seas were a little rough and fishermen came out in large numbers waiting for that "big one." The fish were plentiful but not as large as ones caught recently, reports local fishermen. Sunny skies helped make the day a successful derby.

KELLY'S CORNER

On The Island Of Saturna

(BY AVRIEL KELLY)

First of all, I wish to correct myself. I don't know what made me think to write Joan Sutherland. The young lady's name is Joan Alexander who made a lovely coat and won first prize. Sorry about that Joan!

Thomas Durow, where on earth is Prairie Hill? Mr. Durow suggested some time ago that I go up on Prairie Hill and watch the sun rise. I've seen the sun rise, Mr. Durow, but through my window and the thought of lugging three sleeping children up a hill isn't exactly my idea of enjoying the view! If I had an automobile, we'd visit a lot of scenic spots on Saturna and other Islands.

Oh, to have the wit and wisdom of Mr. Windsor!

The youngsters have some good ideas on how to make that few hundred dollars they need to go to Expo. A trip right across Canada is ruled out now, as you know. Any group who take a Gulf Island tour via B.C. Ferries need only contact Mrs. Hindmarch, General Delivery, Saturna Island, and a lovely luncheon will be served during ferry times - 12 noon and 4 p.m., in the Community Hall. The youngsters will outfit themselves to ensure a memorable visit!

If any organization wants to spend the day on Saturna and enjoy a small lamb barbecue, here again contact Mrs. Hindmarch, and they'll put on all the trimmings reminiscent of the July 1st celebration. These events mentioned will be completely reasonable in price and of course

PENDER

Well-known former Islanders, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shirley, (Mrs. Shirley used to handle the weekly news-items) from Victoria, have been house guests at Pine Haven of Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Straker.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Macdonald from Palm Springs, Calif., with their two children, have enjoyed visiting their parents, Capt. and Mrs. W.J.R. Beech.

For many years, the beautiful property on the point overlooking Einke Beach has been occupied by Mrs. Hanna, from Vancouver, who enjoyed its solitude and isolation, and developed a wonderful garden. Now, she has sold it. On Saturday, July 15th, this community was impressed by the sight of an enormous railway freight-car, evidently containing a large dog, and a pony, rolled from Otter Bay Ferry to its final destination at the "Hanna Place", which is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Skeith, with their two children, (and the pony and dog) all the way from Little Brook Farm, Ontario. It was a difficult job of engineering to get it up the hill and around the narrow left-hand-turn to its final destination, and some encroachment on the property of H. Culner was necessary, but this may perchance be one of the longest trips to Pender. Be this as it may, residents all hope Mr. and Mrs. Skeith will find their Island home all that they have ever dreamed of during the happy years to come.

Mr. Gould, from Ganges, has also moved to peaceful Pender, with his wife and one little boy. They have acquired the Wolfe-Milner property.

Good things, they say, happen in threes, and it is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Vassiloff, from Laurie Mout, chairman of the fishing committee presented the prizes which were won by following: 1st Men's prize, R. G. Willock - 13 lb. 14 oz.; 1st ladies prize, Dorothy Bingham - 9 lb. 13 oz.; 1st Junior prize, Keith Winter - 6 lb. 14 oz. Others who won prizes were: C. Mellich - 9 lb. 11 oz.; H. Geigerich - 9 lb. 6 oz.; Fred Clarke - 8 lb. 1 oz.; E. Marriet, 7 lb. 11 1/2 oz.; Marshall Sharp, 7 lb. 8 oz.; Dr. E. Cox, 7 lb. 4 oz.; Kay Braden - 6 lb. 14 1/2 oz.; Fred Morris - 6 lb. 1 oz.; C. Yzerman - 6 lb.; Jim Morris - 5 lb. 14 oz.; W. J. O'Donnell - 5 lb. 11 1/2 oz.; Denny Deacon - 5 lb. 9 1/2 oz.; Laurie Mout - 5 lb. 8 oz.; C. E. White 5 lb. 7 oz.; Peter Bingham - 4 lb. 15 oz.; Isobelle Mout - 4 lb. 12 oz.; W. Sampson - 4 lb. 12 oz.; Norman Work - 4 lb. 10 oz.; C. Horncastle - 4 lb. 8 1/2 oz.

The prize for the largest cod went to Vic Jackson with a 10 lb. 5 oz. fish. Mr. Jackson, by the way, has won this prize year after year.

get as dry as the steam iron, and everytime I fill up the iron, I fill myself up as well. Checked with a neighbor, she does the same thing so I don't feel so puzzled about it now!

I love Autumn and Winter. As long as the house is warm and cosy, this is time for reading books, sewing, mending, baking, and day dreaming in front of the fireplace, when the day's work is done. I love the rain, to be safe inside, the noise rain makes on the roof is rhythmically lulling. Around August is the time for building the winter storehouse of supplies, staples, and getting a wood supply chopped and piled. Won't be long before the children are back to school again.

The men start work at the Plant again and I'm sure the wives are breathing a sigh of relief. Routine goes haywire, the wife gets miserable because the husband is always underfoot, the husband knows he's always underfoot and isn't too happy, and because he is underfoot, sometimes he gets stomped on! Oh yes, not a very good situation from any vantage point!

Betty and Gino Carpenter are having a nice time on a camping trip. They could sure use the holiday. Accompanying are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall, Hazel Duncan is looking after the six children and is managing very well. The summer folks are coming over almost every weekend now, and their family and friends are being invited along as well. This small community sure hustles and bustles this time of year!

Well, I'm going out on the patio now to slip on a mint julep which means I'm going out on the back porch to have a glass of Rock-ald!

Vancouver, are the new owners of the property formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. David Underhill, with Miss Anne Underhill, and the four Underhill children, have come back to their summer home at Port Washington, next door to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Bridge.

Mrs. Norman Gobel and family, from Vancouver will be on Pender for the balance of the summer, at the Turner cottage, in Otter Bay.

The new marina at Browning Harbour was the scene of a party for the Island children on July 15th, and the celebration was an unlimited success, with the new swimming pool full to the brim with hilarious children, and the children full to saturation with hot-dogs and refreshments of all kinds.

Don Cousineau, formerly a resident of Pender, has brought his grandchildren over with him, from Sidney, to enjoy the beach at their cottage at Otter Bay, and meet former friends.

On South Pender, the only news is that Captain and Mrs. J.E. Craddock, and three small sons, have arrived at Southland to spend the rest of the summer with Mrs. A.E. Craddock and Pat.

Familiar forest lookout towers give way to aerial protection

The lookout tower, for decades an essential element of forest fire detection in Canada, may soon become obsolete, according to current trends reported by the National Research Council's associate committee on forest fire protection, at its annual meeting here.

Studies have shown that equivalent fire-detection results can be obtained with the use of light aircraft -- at about half the cost of fire-tower construction, maintenance and manning. Aircraft have been used for several years in conjunction with lookout towers, but a number of forest fire control agencies are now converting to exclusive use of aircraft, the committee reports.

Still in the realm of fire detection, the committee revealed the testing of an airborne infrared fire detector produced encouraging results during the 1966 fire season, and announced that further tests will be conducted during 1967. It was also noted that a hand-held infra-red detector, developed over the past few years as a result of proposals by the committee, is now on the market. This device is a useful tool for detecting hidden "hot spots" during forest fire mop-up operations.

Represented on the committee are: the National Research Council; the federal Department of Forestry and Rural Development, and Indian Affairs and Northern Development; provincial and industrial forest protection organizations.

NO FIRES

In view of the serious forest fire hazard now existing, all campfire permits in this district have been suspended, it was announced by the B.C. Forest Service. The suspension is effective immediately and will continue until further notice. Authorization for the suspension was given by the Honourable R. G. Williston, Minister of Lands, Forests, and Water Resources.

Shouldn't Dip Into Fire Funds For Ambulance

A counter-solution to the Sidney proposal of acquiring a district ambulance was made Monday by North Saanich Reeve James B. Cumming.

In rejecting the proposal—passed by Sidney Town Council—that money for the purchase of an ambulance be taken out of the reserve funds of the joint fire committee, the reeve said the money should be taken out of the general funds.

"This reserve fund money should be used for what it was intended—to purchase fire-fighting equipment," he said. "After all, the original ambulance was given to us as a gift by the Kinsmen Club. I see no reason why we should now dip into funds specifically marked for fire-fighting equipment to handle this pressing problem."

He then proposed a 50-50 cost-sharing agreement with the town which members of his council supported.

Following is the text of the reeve's report to council on the ambulance situation:

"If we can accept the report in the local newspaper there would seem to be another misapprehension. Rather than ask for and express opinions, surely it would have been much more simple to read the by-law and agreement in question. It is very clear and it takes less than two minutes.

"On Friday, June 2nd, Mayor Freeman and I discussed this matter thoroughly. I suggested an amendment; he felt the agreement should be revised. He left the subject with the expressed intention of discussing the matter with his two committee members. It is also necessary that a by-law be passed to permit funds to be drawn from capital reserve. You of course are all aware of this from my notes and report on our meeting.

"The present agreement was drawn by the then Sidney council and its conditions insisted upon by the council. It was our desire to have only representation on the fire committee by each council but after three months we had to give up and settle for one non-political member. As you know, North Saanich council at our last meeting approved the preparation of a by-law to make the acquisition of an ambulance possible. Sidney's co-operation is essential in the matter. However, I am determined that the ambulance and the fire department in general shall not become the subject of another political fencing match, and I wish to propose the following very simple solution, which can and I hope will be acceptable to both Councils.

1966 HIGHWAY TOLL GREATER THAN VIMY

Centennial project of the Canadian Highway Safety Council, based in Ottawa, is to encourage "Hospitality on the Highway." The council hopes that the 1966 toll of fatalities and injuries on Canadian roads will by this means drop at least a little.

Five thousand, two-hundred and fifty eight were killed on the roads in Canada last year. Injuries—many of them so serious

I have prepared a letter to Sidney Council which if you approve can go forward tomorrow with the minimum of delay.

"The present ambulance was purchased by the Kinsmen Club and presented to the fire department to operate for the benefit of the whole community. My proposal is that the two councils match that generous gesture and agree to jointly purchase a new ambulance from general funds and present it to our fire department to operate in the same way. I am sure there will be no objection from the Superintendent of Municipalities and the dual populations will benefit equally. In this way we by-pass the laborious changing of by-laws and agreements. This can be done at our leisure. What is more important, the fire equipment reserve fund would still be available for its proper function to purchase fire equipment and not be depleted when our responsibilities are growing by leaps and bounds.

"In justice I can only ask you to vote 50% of the cost (Sidney's population is greater than ours and this is for that population) but to avoid any more political maneuvering I would hope you will be generous enough to give me the privilege of increasing our share if I have to come back to you. The volunteers are generous with their services, let us be equally generous."

Council To Meet Hydro Officials

North Saanich council is to ask for a meeting with representatives of B.C. Hydro within the next few days. The meeting will discuss the possibility of road dedication on part of the old B.C. Electric rail line route.

The area affected is property located south of McTavish Road and north of Bazan Bay. Part of the property already is a public road.

However, a letter from B.C. Hydro's legal department in Victoria says corporation engineers and planners are reluctant to give up the part in question since it is a main transmission line route.

"I can't see their reluctance," said Reeve J.B. Cumming. "The land in question is too close to Farm, 1809 Jeffrey Road, has placed first in her age halter class and gone on to win reserve champion at the Chilliwack Cavalcade of Horses held on Victoria Day weekend; and repeated this performance at the B.C. All Arabian Horse Show held at Cloverdale on Dominion Day weekend.

Alteza, bred by her owner, is three years old; and is by the Purebred Arabian stallion Saur-Tut-Ef owned by Aubrey Temblett of Downey Road, out of the Thoroughbred mare Lucera.

First shown at the P.N.E. as a foal, Alteza has a record of eight first ribbons, one championship and two reserve championships in halter classes. Next year, it is hoped, she will start her show career under saddle.
